KENTUCKY DON'T PRODUCE ENOUGH FEED FOR STOCK

Report Shows that Kentucky Does Not Produce Enough Feed For Her Own Stock.

Kentucky does not produce enough prepared feed for her own live stock, according to a report for 1920 by J. D. Turner, head of the department of feed stuffs at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. Only fifteen per cent. of the stock feeds of all classes consumed in the State during the year were produced within its borders, while forty per cent. of wheat feeds and fifty-three per cent. of corn by-products feeds used were manufactured in the state. The report is confined to wheat and corn by-products and mixed stock feeds used. No oil mill by-products, such as cotton-seed meal, linseed meal were produced in the state, according to the report. Only ten per cent. of the digester tankage used in the state was produced within her boundaries. There were a small number of miscellaneous feed materials used in the state in a small way but only a few of them have any appreciable production in the state, the report says. Of the 18,675 tons of wheat middlings and shorts consumed during 1920, 23 per cent. were produced within the state while 52 per cent. of the 82,330 tons of mixed wheat feeds were home manufactured. Only 35 per cent. of the 15,965 tons of wheat bran used were manufactured here. The report shows that 79 per cent. of the 27,120 tons of mixed feeds composed of wheat by-products and a small per cent. of corn bran and in some cases corn hearts and feed meal were produced in the state. Sixty-four per cent. of the 14,850 tons of corn chop and cracked corn, 62 per cent. of the 3,050 tons of corn feed meal, 33 per cent. of the 8,175 tons of hominy feed and none of the 500 tons of corn gluten meal consumed during the year were produced in the state.

The year's crop of tobacco amounted to 1,508,064,000 pounds, grown on 1,894,400 acres. Leaf tobacco and tobacco products imported were valued at $98,562,000. Revenue collected on tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and snuff amounted to $294,000,000, of which North Carolina contributed $108,447,000, New York $46,663,000; Virginia $20,721,000; Pennsylvania $20,195,000; New Jersey $18,742,000; Ohio $15,154,000; and Missouri $12,319,000.

DECISION AGAINST POGUE'S DISTILLERY WILL BE APPEALED

Test Case Is Made of Pogue Distillery Prohibition Litigation and Will Be Carried to Federal Prohibition Director.

The case of United States vs. H. E. Pogue Distillery Company which has attracted considerable interest was called for trial at 1 o'clock on Friday at the Federal building in Lexington, Ky. The Government was represented by Federal Prosecutor Stoids, and the defendant by Hon. Allan D. Cole. The case involved not only important questions of procedure, but also the vital question of taking away from the citizen his property and his liberty without due process of law.

The defendant's first contention was that there was no proof in the case that ten days' notice of the original hearing had been given prior thereto as required by the statute; and that therefore, non-compliance with this mandatory provision rendered proceedings under the citation illegal.

Second, that although the Prohibition Director has the right to issue a citation and conduct a trial thereunder, he has no right under the statute in his citation to designate any one else to try the case; and that, therefore, his designation of Judge Elijah Hoggo to conduct the trial in Maysville, was arbitrary and illegal.

Third, that the incomplete hearing conducted by Judge Hoggo in Maysville on July 28th when the Government submitted its case on affidavits became a mistrial by reason of the subsequent expiration of his term of office; and that for this and for the foregoing reasons a new citation should have been issued.

Fourth, that because of the affidavits offered by the Government obtained by its secret service men without notice to the defendant and with no opportunity given to defendant to cross-examine the witnesses could only operate as information furnishing a basis upon which to issue a citation; and that it is an arbitrary exercise of power in conflict with the Bill of Rights and the Constitution for the Prohibition Director to use them as substantive evidence instead of requiring either the personal presence of the witnesses or at least their depositions to be taken with notice that the time honored and well settled rules of evidence may be observed with respect to relevancy and competency.

Fifth, that the record as made up by the Government is absolutely devoid of evidence sufficient to sustain the allegations of the citation and that the same should be dismissed.

Sixth, that upon submission of the case on motion to dismiss the citation in the absence of competent evidence to support it the defendants should be allowed a reasonable time to prepare and file brief with authorities in support of its contentions.

However, all the foregoing contentions and motions were overruled by the Prohibition Director, Collins, who decided that he would himself try the case heard by Judge Hoggo; and accordingly judgment was entered against defendant, from which defendant promptly prayed an appeal to the Prohibition Commissioner at Washington City.

The government's charges against the local distillery are that they failed to give notice of the sale of the concern and that alterations have been made on removal permits.

The penalty inflicted by State Prohibition Director Collins is a revocation of their permit to sell liquors or remove the same from their property and becomes effective immediately.

Since this test case presents important questions of procedure and is the only case in which a defense has been made, the outcome will be watched with unusual interest.

GILDED STIRRUP IS PRESENTED TO BAND.

At the Ewing Fair Friday a new Mexico cow boy, who is on the fair grounds and who has become greatly attached to the Kentucky Cardinal Band, presented the band with a gilded stirrup as a souvenir. The stirrup is of the sort used by Mexican army officers and was taken from the saddle of one of these desperadoes by the cow puncher. The stirrup, which is very attractive, will be hung among the relics of the band.

LAST BIG DAY OF BIG EWING FAIR.

Those who have attended the Ewing Fair this year contend that it is the best fair ever held in the Fleming county town. Our Boys' Band which has made music for the fair has been one of the big features and the members of that band have had a mighty fine time during the entire period.

FLOOD DESTROYED VILLAGE IN NEW MEXICO

Hundred Families to Foothills Because of Rush of Swollen Stream—Many Made Homeless.

El Paso, Texas, August 20. — Flood waters which virtually destroyed the town of Hatch, N. M., Thursday causing more than two hundred families to be made homeless and destroying thousands of dollars' worth of property, were still several feet deep in the town Friday, according to messages received here.

Heavy cloudbursts throughout this section early Wednesday and Thursday night caused rivers and creeks to rise high, and rushing currents were sent through rich farm lands and through Hatch.

Women and children of the town are suffering from exposure, according to H. F. Fieldness, of Hatch, who was in communication with El Paso today. He asked that physicians be sent to take care of them immediately and that food and bedding be rushed.

Fieldness said over the telephone that he was standing in a foot of water in a telephone booth in one of the five buildings yet standing.

Nearly all the houses in the town were adobe, and they crumbled rapidly when the water came down from the foothills.

MYSTERY OF MAN-CHESTER ISLAND IS SOLVED BY CHART

Old Chart Discovered Solves Long Pondered Mystery of Three Islands.

Manchester, Ohio. — In the writings of the first historians touching on the Ohio Valley frequent allusions were made to the Three Islands, and the later writers would frequently ask where was the third island, seeing there was only two at Manchester.

The query was never satisfactorily answered. Many supposed that Brush Creek was the third island as the pioneers did not as a rule think so much of distance as the present generation. We believe now that we have found a satisfactory solution.

Not long ago our fellow townsman Mr. Robert H. Ellison, while delving among some old manuscripts which were handed down by his ancestors who were among pioneer settlers of Manchester and the country roundabout, came across an old survey which had the three islands plainly charted, and the location of the third island was shown at the foot of Washington street opposite to the old St. Charles Hotel.

This seems to be a true location of the island in question and does away with all doubts as to location, as the document is genuine and entitled to full credence. The island being small the erosion of the swift current soon washed the island away. Mr. Ellison intends to present the survey to the State Historical Society.

INSPECT MASONIC CHAPTER.

A number of local Masons motored to Carlisle Friday afternoon to attend the annual inspection of the Carlisle Chapter Royal Arch Masons. Mr. Edward M. Smith, was inspecting officer, acting for Grand Scribe A. G. Sulser, who on account of being indisposed, could not attend. Although they experienced some considerable machine trouble, the local Masons had a very pleasant trip to the Nicholas capital.

MOVING TO GERMANTOWN.

All roads lead to Germantown now and many concessions, much stock and many exhibits are now being taken to the Old Reliable Fair grounds for the big show which starts next week. This is considered Maysville's Fair as well as Germantown's and is patronized more generally by Maysville people than any other fair in this section.

REV. OVERLEY DEMANDS GRAND JURY INVESTIGATION

Newport Pastor Asks Judge to Call Special Grand Jury to Learn Why Gambling Is Permitted.

Demand was made on Judge Otto Wolff of Newport Saturday to call a special grand jury to investigate what's the matter with city officials of Newport, where a gambler's racket does as it pleases under the noses of public officials.

The demand is made by Rev. E. H. Overley of Grace M. E. church, Newport, who on Friday headed a petition of 400 citizens in an appeal to Governor Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky to save law and order in Newport.

In his letter to Judge Wolff Rev. Overley says it is not necessary to investigate whether gambling is going on in Newport, since everybody knows it is going on.

He asks that a grand jury investigate why gambling still is going on openly in Newport, though city officials say they have issued orders to stop it.

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY TO ELMER WATKINS

Popular Young Hotel Clerk Dies of Apoplexy After Only a Few Hours' Illness Early Saturday Morning.

Elmer Watkins, popular clerk at the Central Hotel, died at his room in that hostelry at 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning following an illness of only a few hours of apoplexy.

Although he was feeling badly early in the evening, Mr. Watkins was not stricken seriously until about eleven o'clock when he felt the stroke coming on him as he passed through the hotel hallway. He staggered to his room and friends came to him. Drs. J. H. and Lovell Samuel were summoned and went to his bedside in a very few minutes. They found the young man in a very critical condition from a cerebral hemorrhage and almost past recovery. Although they worked heroically, their efforts were in vain and he died at the time mentioned.

Elmer Watkins was 34 years of age and a most popular young man. He was well liked by all who knew him. Accommodating and clever to a fault, he counted his friends by the scores and no hotel man throughout the Ohio Valley was better known or more universally liked by the traveling public. He was a brother of Mr. Claude Watkins, proprietor of the Central, and took great interest and pride in the hotel and its service.

The funeral will be held from the Central Hotel Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and burial will be made in the Maysville cemetery.

BEATEN ON AVERAGE OF ONCE A DAY, WIFE SAYS.

Louisville, Ky. — Not satisfied with having his wife work and make a living for him, Charles Edward Mullen sold the furniture while she was absent and left with the money, Mrs. Mary Mullen told the acting chancellor. She received a divorce. She said Mullen sat by the fire all last winter while she was at work and that he beat her on an average of once a day.

Relatives here Saturday received a message to the effect that Mr. Amos McLaughlin, former resident of Maysville, was critically ill at his home in Newport.

Mrs. Dennis Kelly and Mrs. Richard Kelly are visiting relatives in Newport.

THE PREACHER WE ALL ADMIRE.

Everyone admires a man that's a man—all man no matter what his avocation or calling and while we may not always agree with him, we give him credit for being a man and admire him. On the other hand there's none of us who has any use for a fellow who compromises on moral issues when those issues are so clean cut as to offer but two sides and no middle ground.

While we all dislike the fellow who compromises on moral issues, we more than dislike the preacher who is so all fired afraid he will hurt some of his parishioners that he will take no decided stand on any issue of any sort.

We all liked E. R. Overley when he was in Maysville, didn't we? And we always knew where he stood too. He's letting 'em down in Newport know where he stands too and if he can find enough folks with backbone and guts to stay with him and by him, he'll do much toward cleaning up the town he says is "the dumping grounds of Cincinnati."

Give us more preachers like Overley.

GIVE US SEWERS AND MORE SEWERS.

The present administration is to be heartily congratulated upon their undertaking the laying of four very badly needed sewers this summer. It is to be hoped that this good work will be continued by our city officers each year until after awhile we will be fairly well drained.

One of Maysville's greatest needs, after better water, is an adequate sewer system over all of the six wards of the city. We have long needed it and as the vacant lots are occupied by attractive new homes, we need it more.

Such a system of sewers as Maysville requires would cost thousands of dollars and, without a bond issue, would be impossible to construct at one time but by the laying of four or five each year, the underground network, so necessary to our health, could soon be realized.

READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS.

Do you read the advertisements daily? If you don't you are not only missing opportunities for bargains but you are likewise missing some of the features of the daily newspapers.

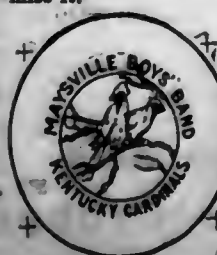

Maysville newspapers frequently contain in their advertisements, good thoughts, well put, which are well worth pondering and turning over in our minds. We read many of them daily but we were particularly struck Thursday by the advertisements in the Public Ledger of D. Heehinger & Company and Merz Brothers.

Get the habit of reading all the advertisements daily. You'll find that it's worth while.

CUT DOWN THE EXPENSE OF ALL GOVERNMENT

Postmaster General Hays Recommends a General Program of Economy in All Civic Affairs.

Postmaster General Hays made the following remarks on business conditions at a luncheon given by the Washington Rotary Club on August 10, 1921. The last sentence of these remarks, which is capitalized, was received with great enthusiasm by the Rotarians.

"I would like to fill the country with the spirit of Rotary. There is a lot of business that is really sick, still staggering with the shock of war and the debauch of extravagance, but there is a good deal more that is merely malingering. What we need more than anything else is the common sense of courage and confidence. There is, of course, the greatest era of expansion and prosperity ahead that the world has ever seen. Everyone knows this and the only question discussed is when it will start. Well, it's time to go out and meet it.

"LET US HAVE LESS OF 'THOU SHALT NOT' AND MORE 'COME ON, LET'S GO!'"

At the same luncheon the Postmaster General made the following suggestion concerning a campaign which he proposed should be inaugurated by the Rotarians throughout the country to extend economy in town, city, township, county, and state expenditures. The Washington Rotary Club unanimously adopted his suggestion and will recommend it to the International Rotary Clubs for action.

You are familiar with the President's purpose to lower the expenses of the Federal Government to the irreducible minimum. This is necessary and will be done.

The expenses of the Federal Government, however, constitute but part of the expenses of government.

The authorities in control in our towns, cities, townships, counties and states just as certainly owe a similar service to the situation.

In a very few instances this service is being attempted, but there is no systematic effort whatever in this direction.

The total expenditures of the towns, cities, townships, counties and states exceed those of the Federal Government, except only the payments on the already contracted war indebtedness which cannot be avoided.

The opportunities for economy are just as great.

TWO SISTERS
GET HELP

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it did for Them

Hagerstown, Md.—"I was overworked and my monthly periods stopped. My body was swollen and I often had pains so I had to lie down. I was treated by a physician, but he did not seem to help me at all. My sister had taken your medicine with great results so I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am able to work and feel like working."

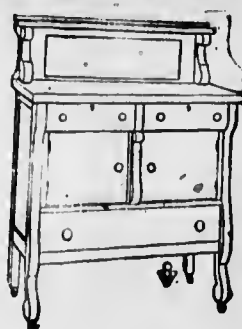

Women will tax their powers of endurance to the limit before giving up, and it is then some womanly ailments develop and they have to give up entirely. When a woman suffers from such symptoms as irregularities, headaches, backaches, bearing-down pains, inflammation, nervousness and "blue," it is well for her to profit by Mrs. Carbaugh's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has restored multitudes of women suffering from just such ailments.

The same taxpayers pay all the bills. I propose a nation-wide, systematic, enthusiastic and sincere movement to reduce also these expenditures of local governments. I suggest that the Rotarians of the country make this their business and that they inaugurate and with their incomparable zeal and ability cause to be developed a successful movement to this end.

Only by this universal effort for efficiency and economy can the maximum good be accomplished and a complete recovery be had.

TEACHERS VOTE AGAINST THE COLVIN AMENDMENT.

Richmond, Ky. — Teachers from Eastern Kentucky at the summer school here voted overwhelmingly against the proposed amendment featured by George Colvin, State Superintendent of Schools, which would take the office out of politics and make the term continuous where service was efficient. About 450 teachers were present when Dr. E. C. McDougle put the question to a vote. Only eleven voted in favor of the Colvin plan. Several talks in support of the amendment had been made to the teachers in chapel. A number of teachers signed a petition for a speech from some one who would present the other side of the question.

New York Letter

by
Lucy Jeanne Price

New York.—We are getting to know South America a great deal better than we used to, but a large part of our knowledge still consists in what we glean about exporting opportunities there or how great a boon their millionaires are to our New York jewelers and costumers. I was interested in another side the other night. Summer concerts at one of our big universities draw a big patronage from very much the definitely musical people. But it happened that a Brazilian warship was in our harbor that week, and there came several hundred, not only of their officers but of the "common" sailors, radiating their enjoyment of the music, which was not at all of the "popular" kind. Evidently they had been there on a previous evening for they brought a great basket of flowers decorated with American and Brazilian flags as a gift to the director.

A new "Merry Widow" will appear this season in the revival of that one-time best-seller among musical comedies. It is Miss Lydia Lipkowska, a young Russian prima donna whose other work in this country has been with the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company. This will be her first experience in light opera. It was at a charity performance in Vienna that she first sang the "Merry Widow" role and she calculated a contract with the Chicago Opera Company to stick to the lighter part.

College girls are no longer taking it for granted that they are to become school teachers, librarians, or other of those parts in life which once held the floor as the only ones for women whose minds were trained along intellectual lines. A recent investigation by one of the Vassar College alumnae proved that graduates of that institution were found in practically every one of the large department stores in New York City, usually in the advertising departments, but often as buyers of art goods or heads of the personnel bureau, and that they were numerous, too, among the personal secretaries to financiers, and in banking and bond houses, while hardly any profession or high class business was without them. "Do we like women college graduates?" repeated one merchant. "We like them so well that we have a special group of them being trained for our business all the time, ready to place them in whatever branch of the work they are best fitted for. And they see fitted for pretty nearly all of it. Three Vassar girls are in that little group right now, all ready to take good managerial positions. They are well balanced, sane girls, every one of them."

The Community Service, which was organized for war work, finds plenty to do in these peace times. Occasionally the peace work is of unexpected kind. One warm night recently the forty-second street bath was visited by an Italian. In broken English he recited his story to the cultured woman in charge of the booth. He was lonely to the point of desperation. Three months before his wife had died, and he wondered whether it were worth while to go on living. She listened sympathetically and then, being a linguist, answered him in good Italian. The face of the lonely man lighted up. Five minutes later, in eloquent Italian words, he was proposing marriage. The lady spoke his native tongue and he could give her a good home. He was considerably disappointed at her gentle refusal, but she comforted herself by believing that even though she couldn't say "Yes" she had diverted his mind from his bereavement.

A dozen or more women employers in the city have decided to stand by the bobbed-hair section of their sex to the point of employing them whenever there is a vacancy in their offices and a bobbed-hair girl comes along who is as good worker as though she had long rolls trailed around her head. "It's either masculine absurdity," they say, "or else their wives have decided it's the more frivolous ones who go in for that sort of thing and are directing the hiring and firing of them. Neither reason exists to keep a nice, neat, capable bobbed-head out of our office."

WHY SHOULD U. S. LEND MONEY TO SOVIET RUSSIA?
Senator Bourne Raises Question Well Worth the Thought of the People in Regard to Russia.

Washington. — "Having 'saved' western and central Europe with billions of loans and the gift of hundreds of millions in foodstuffs and other supplies, while those people remained in comparative idleness and the highest of prices prevailed in our own country, we are now to repeat the process with Russia. If reports are not misleading," says the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., "Senator Bourne raises a question well worth the thought of the people in regard to Russia."

Washington. — "Having 'saved' western and central Europe with billions of loans and the gift of hundreds of millions in foodstuffs and other supplies, while those people remained in comparative idleness and the highest of prices prevailed in our own country, we are now to repeat the process with Russia. If reports are not misleading," says the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., "Senator Bourne raises a question well worth the thought of the people in regard to Russia."

"Why is it that the United States must fly to the aid of every country of the Old World that insists on destroying its substance by rushing recklessly into war or experimenting with forms of government that centuries of experience have demonstrated always bring ruin in their wake? The World War and its distressing aftermath was due solely to the refusal of the people of Europe to assert themselves and proclaim freedom from self-appointed rulers who sought to exploit their subjects for personal glorification. The situation in Russia can be blamed only on the absurd government that prevented the people from accumulating a surplus to tide them over unusual weather conditions that have prevailed there this summer."

"There may have been some satisfaction in extending reconstruction aid to Central Europe, as the peoples of those countries were in the throes of breaking away from their traditional al rulers and setting up governments of their own. There was some prospect that, once relieved of their present distress, they would see to it that unprovoked war did not come again and that they would busy themselves with peaceful pursuits. But in Russia there is no suggestion of a change in government. Senator France expresses this conviction that the savies are merely passing through a process of logical evolution; in fact, the four billion loan that he proposed is to be made to that very government to enable it to keep its hold on the country. The Russian people have been impoverished while the Russian government has made war upon about every nation within reach, and carried its communistic propaganda and sent its agents of revolution into every country in the world. A loan for money and supplies expended in that way, and doubtless much of it would be spent to continue those programs of bloodshed at home and organized discontent abroad."

"Has anybody estimated the cost to the allies and to the United States of Russia's defection during the war? It is quite possible that the war would have ended without the entrance of this country had not the soviet government compelled the withdrawal of Russia, and the United States might have saved the expenditure of 75,000 lives and $30,000,000,000. Now we are asked to perpetuate that same government with huge loans of cash and enormous gifts of foods and supplies? It is too much for even American altruism."

"The United States demonstrated its affection for the Russian people in the dread famine of 1921 when millions were saved from death by food sent them from America. We are ready to repeat that contribution, but one of the conditions thereto should be that the soviet armies be disbanded, the soldiers returned to productive occupations, and a stop put to the requisitioning of food supplies to continue war against the Poles, the overrunning of the Armenians, and war-like threats in Siberia."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

A Necessary Compromise.
Washington. — Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin, insists that if the Government is going to permit the railroads to fund their indebtedness to the Treasury they must agree to abandon for all time their claims for payment on account of ineffectiveness of labor during the period of Federal control. Those claims total between $700,000,000 and $800,000,000. They have been temporarily waived, but the roads have reserved the right to press them in the courts at a later date. Senator Lenroot believes it should be made a matter of affirmative law that any road that refuses to agree never to prosecute those claims shall not share in the proposed funding of its debt to the Government. Mr. Lenroot has put his proposal into the form of an amendment to the bill granting authority for the funding, and will endeavor to have it incorporated as a part of that measure. It is known that other Senators are with Senator Lenroot in the matter, and it is rumored that they will refuse support to the funding bill unless such a provision is included in it.

A Reasonable Suggestion.
Secretary of Labor Davis has asked Congress to enact an amendment to the percentage immigration law passed last spring that will fix a minimum quota of immigrants that may be admitted in any one year from any nation. He suggests that 1,200 may well be fixed as a reasonable number. As the law reads at present, only three per cent. of the total of any nationality in this country in the census of 1910 may be admitted annually. Formerly Australia, New Zealand, and certain other countries sent 1,000 or more desirable immigrants to the United States each year, but under the new law they would be permitted to land only about 200. With a minimum fixed at 1,200 more immigrants from those countries would be admitted, but the immigration from Europe would not be affected as practically all European countries send for more than that number annually.

A Hole in the Constitution.
Senator Reed Smoot of Utah has proposed an amendment to the Constitution that would permit the Federal Government to tax securities issued by states and municipalities. At present bonds of that nature are tax-free, and Mr. Smoot estimates that $700,000,000 is lost annually to the Government because of its inability to levy against them. "The enactment of some such provision is absolutely necessary," declares Senator Smoot. "If the Government is to collect any material amount of taxes in the future from persons of large incomes. My information is that the taxes from this source have fallen from $917,000,000 a year down to an estimated amount of less than $200,000,000 for the year 1920. The amendment to the Constitution in the way I have suggested seems to me a matter of necessary self-protection by the Federal Government."

Postponed Collection.

It is understood at the Treasury Department that negotiations for the funding of the foreign debts to this country are likely to be postponed until after the conclusion of the conference of the limitations of armaments. It is felt that the results of the meeting will bring about improved financial conditions in the debtor countries, due to the lifting in some measure of the burden of maintaining big armies and navies, that will have a marked influence on the funding agreements that are eventually entered into. Financial delegates are expected in Washington at the same time representatives arrive to attend the armaments conference, but it will not mean that negotiations on the foreign debt are to be conducted along with the discussions on armaments.

SEEKS TO RECOVER $100,000.

A suit to recover $100,000 in a coal mining transaction was filed Friday in the United States District Court, Covington, by the Walker's Branch Mining Company of Bristol, Va., against the Hazard, Ky. In December, 1920, the plaintiff sold the title to three tracts of coal land in Perry county, Ky., to the defendant company for a consideration of $150,000. A cash payment of $50,000 was made for the land and thirty-four promissory notes given for the payment of the remaining $100,000 of the purchase price. Previous to the time of the sale both companies had been consolidated, but decided to operate separately.

WOMEN'S WOES

Maysville Women Are Finding Relief At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery.

Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know. Mrs. E. L. Cullen, 322 West Second street, Maysville, says: "Three years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and my back ached continually. I had no ambition to do my housework and everything seemed a drag to me while going about it. I had blinding, dizzy spells and my head ached all the time. My kidneys were not acting regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and I sent to Wood & Son's drug store and got a box. After using them I got over the trouble entirely and have never since been bothered. I willingly recommend this remedy."

Price 60c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cullen had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON. AUGUST 21, 1921.

Topic: Paul Champions Christian Liberty. Acts 13:1-14, 19-21.

REV. J. J. DICKEY.

When Paul and Barnabas returned to Antioch from their first Missionary tour they found there Jews from Judea who contended that converted Gentiles should be circumcised according to the Mosaic law. These were converted Jews. Paul and Barnabas took issue with them, and the Antioch church decided to refer the matter to the apostles at Jerusalem. Accordingly they dispatched a delegation, headed by Paul and Silas. Upon their arrival Paul and Silas gave a glowing account of their missionary journey and emphasized the fact of the conversion of so many Gentiles. Then the question in dispute came up and was thoroughly discussed. Peter taking a prominent part because he was the first one to preach to the Gentiles which were at the house of Cornelius. He repeated the history of that event, and took a stand with Paul and Silas that the Gentiles should not be required to be circumcised. They formulated the decision to that effect, and James, the head of the apostolic college, announced it to the company, and sent the decree to the church at Antioch that had asked for a settlement of the controversy.

The decision teaches us that Christians may disagree on some points of doctrine and discipline and yet be Christians. While the council at Jerusalem gave a decision against compelling the Gentiles to be circumcised, yet Paul afterwards circumcised Timothy, whose father was a Gentile, and his mother a Jewess. There is a large liberty given to Christians in nonessentials. The lesson also teaches that the church in its constituted state has authority to interpret the Scriptures, or to decide matters of controversy but it cannot bind any man's conscience.

We can see here that Christ did not found a new church but revised the old Jewish church by changing its ordinances, thus adapting the church to new conditions made by the coming of the Messiah, Jesus Christ as the fulfillment of prophecy. Circumcision, a symbol of heart cleansing, is exchanged for baptism a symbol of the same thing. Bleeding sacrifices, symbolical of the death of Christ yet to come, is exchanged for the Lord's Supper, symbolical of his death already accomplished. The sacrifices pointed forward, the Lord's Supper points backward. These converted Jews that came to Antioch from Judea were not sufficiently taught to accept the new symbols, and were zealously contending for the old, and insisted that the converted Gentiles should submit. Paul and Barnabas had seen so many Gentiles converted and filled with the Holy Ghost that they were convinced that the Judaizing brethren were wrong. Paul being learned in the Scriptures was better able to interpret them. James quoted the prophecies to show that the new order was Biblical. We are told that these Jews who insisted on retaining the Mosaic ceremonies in the church, split off from the church and in time disappeared. It is to this class that Paul addresses the greater part of his letter to the Galatian Christians, in which he goes thoroughly over this ground. In this letter he brings out the great doctrine of justification by faith without the deeds of the law, or Mosaic ordinances, or works.

MOBS ATTACK TWO JAILS.

State troops guarded jails at Knoxville, Tenn., and Barnstable, Mass., Saturday in momentary expectation of attack by mobs intent on lynching or rescuing negro prisoners, held on charges of attacking white girls.

At Knoxville one man is dead and 60 wounded, following an attempt to storm the jail Friday night with the intention of lynching Frank Martin, alleged assailant of Miss Jessie Parks, 25, school teacher.

At Barnstable white mobs, planning lynching of three negroes charged with an attack on Miss Gertrude Butler, have been repulsed twice. Soldiers have been warned negro rescue parties may attempt to release the prisoners by force.
